"This Too Shall Pass" - Memories and noises from the Waterfront // 53°24'N 2°59'W - Liverpool. The City as Affective Interface

[1] Please notice: Although true in its basic form, the curve is not accurate, it only marks five periods of a city in a span of more than a hundred years. This demands a much deeper and academic research. It works as a statement, its purpose being to serve as a "score" or "script" to conduct the results of an urban navigation.
